

Explanations about tutorials:

- The tutorial courses don't have a regular timetable like the others, you need to do what the professor asks from you. They function as regular classes and you have to follow to the same rules. Please also check the semester in which a certain course is available (there is a dedicated column for that – 1st or 2nd meaning that the course is available either in the 1st semester or in the 2nd semester).
- Advice: We suggest you to take most of the from the programmes taught in English (from the above-mentioned 4 programmes taught in English) because you will improve your English language level and get to interact with other students. Additionally, you may also choose tutorial classes but only as complementary subjects to your study plan. If you change your OLA from English-taught classes with tutorials, we need an email from your coordinator from your home university.
- Some courses are in the English-taught programmes in one semester and as tutorials in the other semester (in order to ensure a wide and fair access to courses to many students). If a student stays the entire academic year and has a course which is a present in an English-taught programme in one semester, the student MUST choose that course in the semester when that course is studied in the English-taught. For example: Econometrics is in the BA English-taught programme in the 1st semester and as a tutorial in the 2nd semester. If a student stays the entire academic year, he/she will take this course from this programme in the 1st semester (the course is available as a tutorial in the 2nd semester ONLY for students who come in the 2nd semester).

If you need additional information or if your students need assistance in the application process, feel free to contact Ms. Lucia Raducea, the International Relations Officer at the faculty (international@feaa.uaic.ro) or Ms. Iolanda Popa (iolanda.bogles@uaic.ro), the IRO at the university's Erasmus Office in charge with incoming students
